"WHAT IS WHISKEY?" TO BE DECIDED ONCE MORE

Over 75 Per Cent of All the Whiskey Consumed in United States Said to be Adulterated.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Whether imitation whiskey is to be marked "imitation," or whether it is to be sold as the pure goods, is a question which will soon be decided—once more "finally"—by President Taft.

Did you know that over 75 per cent of all the "whiskey" consumed in the United States is neutral spirits colored and flavored to imitate that article? It develops that this is the situation.

About 60,000,000 gallons of whiskey (genuine) are distilled each year. About 60,000,000 gallons of neutral spirits are also made each year. The genuine whiskey is distilled from high-grade grains. The neutral spirits can be made from anything from corn stalks to sawdust. A large part of the 60,000,000 gallons of real whiskey produced each year is sold by the distillers to the rectifiers, who mix it with the neutral spirits, so some of the imitation whiskey on the market contains some whiskey; a large part contains none.

Determined that whiskey made of neutral spirits, colored, and flavored with the flavoring extract, shall not be labelled "imitation" or "compound" the manufacturers of this product have carried on a three-year war since 1906 against the Government's enforcement of the pure food law. The history of this war is one of the most remarkable in the history by the Government to make its laws effective. Three times an opinion has been handed down by an attorney-general of the United States, and twice by a President of the United States and twice by Federal judges. All these decisions were unfavorable to the distillers.

When Taft became President the effort to secure an executive intervention was renewed and was successful. During the second week in March the case was reopened by a hearing at the White House, and on April 8 final arguments were presented at a special hearing before Solicitor General Bowers of the Department of Justice. When Mr. Bowers makes his report President Taft will again determine the question of imitation whiskey—either supporting or reversing the decision of his predecessor.

This fight of the distilling interests began even before the pure food law was passed. For 17 years previous to its passage a regularly organized lobby was maintained in Washington, and it is the boast of Warwick M. Hough, their attorney, that he, and the interests which he represented, were for years the largest factor in preventing the passage of the pure food law. Hough is still in charge.

The first decision that imitation whiskey was imitation was rendered in 1906 by Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture; Mr. Garey of the Treasury Department, and S. N. D. North, now director of the census. Another decision was by a board of seven State pure food analysts supporting Dr. Wiley.

The distillers protested. They got the question transferred to a board consisting of the Secretary of Agriculture, its solicitor, Mr. McCabe, and Assistant Secretary Hayes. Before this board made its report the case was appealed directly to the President. Mr. Roosevelt heard arguments and put the matter up to Attorney-General Bonaparte.

In 1907 Attorney-General Bonaparte rendered his first decision. He held that there was a difference between genuine whiskey and the imitation product, and upheld Wiley in his contention that the imitation article ought to be so marked.

Mr. Hough and the distilling interests asked for a rehearing of the case, and it was reheard. After a while Attorney-General Bonaparte gave another opinion the same as his first.

The distilling interests then sought relief in the courts and asked the Government to co-operate in a test case. Thereupon the Agricultural Department seized several barrels of

CANTALOUPE WILL MOVE COMING WEEK

ASSOCIATION WILL HANDLE FIRST CAR BY THURSDAY.

Crop Will Be Very Short, But Growers Anticipate Good Prices for Their Product.

The real movement of cantaloupes will commence from this section by the latter part of next week, when they will be forwarded in carload lots from this point.

There will be some fruit shipped the first of the coming week, but the real cutting will not commence until several days later.

Melons and 'loupes both have been moving rather heavily from the southern part of the State, but the yield has greatly decreased owing to the dry weather, and growers having experienced a heavy loss by both blight and drouth, but it is hoped that they will bring handsome prices.

South of Gainesville the crop will last only a short while, as in a large number of places it is stated that the vines are already burning up and the little fruit they contain is unsatisfactory and unsaleable.

In this immediate section the crops are fine, but nothing like as heavy as in former years. This was the original section in which cantaloupes were first grown in the State and the growers probably realize better when the proper time arrives to plant.

whiskey belonging to the Clark Distilling Co. in Washington, D. C.

Meantime the internal revenue division of the Government became a party to the fight. Solicitor Hayes for that department formulated certain regulations as to the branding of distillate and it became necessary for Attorney-General Bonaparte again to intervene. Mr. Hayes has since become a partner in the firm of Mr. Hough. The regulations which were drawn by Mr. Hayes were not accepted by the Attorney-General, and a new solicitor drew new regulations which required an imitation whiskey to be so marked. That was July 1, 1908.

For the trial of their test case resulting from the seizure of Clark's whiskey, the distillers sought U. S. Judge Thompson of the Cincinnati district, where most of the distilled article is made, and Judge Humphrey, of Peoria, Ill., that other home of distilled products. Both judges decided along the lines laid down in Bonaparte's opinions. Once again the aid of the President was sought. And once again Roosevelt gave a hearing, and placed the matter up to Bonaparte, the latter again refusing to intervene.

Then a Presidential election intervened. New counsel was brought in. The Hon. Jos. Choate, late minister to Great Britain, and Lawrence Maxwell, the well-known attorney of Cincinnati, took up the beaten path to the White House. There were some "new phases" of the whiskey matter which they "wanted to present." Mr. Taft accorded them a hearing. The hearing was prolonged and the matter was re-opened formally, and Mr. Taft called in Solicitor-General Bowers and asked him to take evidence and hear arguments. Sixteen days were spent in taking evidence and two days in hearing arguments. On April 8, 1909, these hearings ended.

Once again, is imitation whiskey an imitation or is it not? Will it be so labelled or will it not? Will the decisions of Judges Thompson and Humphrey—of Attorney-General Bonaparte and President Roosevelt—with others too numerous to mention—be upheld? Or will they be overruled?

APPROPRIATION $50,000 FOR STATE PRISON FARM

Measure Providing for This Amount Passed to Third Reading in Senate---The House.

TALLAHASSEE, May 21.—Appropriating the sum of $50,000 from the convict lease fund for the purchase and equipment of a State prison farm, the Humphries bill was finally passed to third reading by the Senate yesterday.

This is regarded as an important measure, inasmuch as it is believed that its passage will mean the taking of the first step towards the ultimate abolishing of the present convict lease system.

The Senate held a two hours' executive session in the morning which aroused great curiosity, inasmuch as the matter under discussion is known to have been very important and perhaps sensational.

The executive session followed immediately upon a secret caucus attended by nine Senators in a committee room.

The remainder of the day was devoted by the Senate to the consideration of the Williams oyster bill. This is a most sweeping bill and seeks to regulate the entire oyster industry of the State.

THE HOUSE.

State and county uniformity of school text-books was the subject of a discussion that occupied nearly the entire time of the House yesterday. The entire afternoon was devoted to the discussion and adjournment was finally taken with no real advance made.

Routine Proceedings.

House called to order by the speaker at 9 o'clock.

Letter to the Speaker of the House from Judge R. M. Call stating that he had no definite recollection of receiving, and declaring that he had never used a pass while in office, always paying his fare as do the public.

Introduction of Bills.

House Bill, by Mr. Durance—Establishing school tax districts and authorizing the issuance of bonds.

House Bill, by Mr. MacWilliams—Relating to dividing of counties into road districts.

House Bill, by committee—Prescribing the manner of tax assessments, and for the division of counties into five tax districts.

House Bill, by Mr. Cash—To provide for the holding of inquest over bodies of convicts.

House joint resolution, by Mr. Smith—Proposing a constitutional amendment relating to suffrage.

House Bill, by Mr. Brown—To incorporate the Palm Beach, Okeechobee and Punta Gorda Railroad Company.

Bills on Third Reading.

House Bill No. 216, by Mr. Carter—Relating to the challenge of jurors. Passed.

Special order for all school book bills was then called.

The House resolved itself into a committee of the whole to consider this subject.

The committee meeting was begun with Mr. Malone in the chair.

The bills of Messrs. Carn, Bynum, Duke, Wall and Roberson were first discussed, Mr. Carn giving a long and logical explanation of the plan suggested by his bill, incidentally making a small crusade against the American Book Company.

The practical young school teacher and former county superintendent of Marion held up several different pairs of books, apparently the same books. He invited anyone to point out any difference in the texts, while the contrasts of prices under uniformity and otherwise were indeed striking.

Mr. Duke very ably discussed his measure, which provides for county uniformity of text-books rather than State uniformity.

Next came Mr. Bynum, whose bill suggests the establishment of a State printing plant to publish the State school books as well as the usual State printing, also providing for the compiling of the school books of Floridians.

Mr. Bynum said that some of the prominent educators had told him that there were not people in Florida who could write our text-books. "But," said Mr. Bynum, "I want to say to you, gentlemen, that I have never been in but one school house in my life and did not receive the education that I should have liked, but if I can't write some of the books that are used up to the twelfth grade I am not in this house this morning." Mr. Bynum's argument

Brief Notes Concerning Doings at National Capital

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The most important happenings in the National capital yesterday were as follows:

Three items—quebracho, cotton seed oil and white lead—were discussed and voted on during consideration of the tariff bill in the Senate, the Finance Committee prevailing in each case, although Chairman Aldrich yielded to the desires of several Southern Senators for free cotton seed oil and agreed to reduce the duty on white lead to 2½ cents a pound.

The statue of the Rev. Dr. John Witherspoon, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, erected in this city by public subscription, was unveiled with impressive ceremonies.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer concluded his conference with the commandants of the various Eastern navy yards regarding the Newberry reorganization plan.

Presidential nominations of William Williams to be commissioner of immigration of the port of New York and of Walter E. Clark to be Governor of Alaska were confirmed by the Senate.

Member of Serenading Party Shot in Lung

MOULTREE, Ga., May 21.—While a party of young men were searching near Hartsfield, Armistead Gore, one of the party, was accidentally shot by Herbert Daniel. The boys were paying their respects to a newly married couple and were using firearms to add to the din and noise. The careless handling of a pistol caused the accident. Gore was shot through the lung and his condition is serious.

Georgia Railroad Strike Assumes Serious Aspect

ATLANTA, May 21.—There were sensational developments yesterday in connection with the strike of white firemen on the Georgia Railroad, the more important being a threat on behalf of the firemen to extend the strike on every road in the South, and the formal appeal by officials of the Georgia Railroad to the Federal authorities to take a hand in order to safeguard the mails.

The following telegram was sent to the general chairman of the firemen of every road in the South by E. A. Ball of Toronto, Canada, vice-president of the Order of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, who is here in charge of the strike:

"Situation on the railroad assuming serious aspect. Company forcing negro supremacy. May have to make the white man's cause a National one. Hold yourself in readiness to convene your entire joint board at Atlanta at the shortest possible notice."

Government Gets Complaint.

Mr. Ball denies that the striking firemen have been connected with acts of violence on the Georgia Railroad and intimidation of strike breakers.

United States District Attorney Tate said that complaints had been filed with his office by the officials of the Georgia Railroad with reference to the delay of the mails on account of the demonstrations against negro firemen. He added that the complaints were being investigated.

Many rumors have reached the city of alleged demonstrations against negro firemen on the Georgia Railroad Wednesday night and yesterday, but most of the rumors appeared to be without foundation.

THE OBJECT AND AIM OF THE C. L. S. C.

CHAUTAUQUA THOUGHT EM-BRACES ALL SIDES OF LIFE.

Perfection in Man Impossible, But Improvement Is Within the Reach of Everyone.

(Contributed.)

The Chautauqua thought embraces all sides of our many-sided life and aims at the perfection of all. We must acknowledge that perfection is impossible to man in his present state, but we should strive to keep before us a splendid conception of a strong, symmetrical character.

To know is good, to do is better, to be is best. We do not receive grace and goodness as we do our merchandise—to order. We work out while God works in us.

"We live in deeds, not years, in thoughts, not breath; in feeling, not in figures on the dial. We should count time by heart throbs when they beat. For God, for man, for duty. He most lives who thinks most, feels noblest, acts the best. Life is but a means unto an end; that end beginning, mean an end to all things, God."

The first great object of the Chautauqua movement is to promote self-culture. It is pleasant to know and it is useful. One who knows is worth much more than one who does not know. Self-education is not reading for amusement alone. The cultivation of reading is an excellent thing as a means of enlarging our ideas and refining our tastes, but it does not help one to rise above the position in which circumstances may have placed him. It is study that does this. Franklin the printer did not become Franklin the philosopher and statesman by reading only, but by study; and we do not read of his studying under teachers. His education progressed under the direction of his own mind. But usually men are not willing to devote themselves to that process of slow, toilsome self-culture which is the price of great success.

Reading is to the mind what eating is to the body, and reflection is similar to digestion. To eat without giving nature time to assimilate the food is unwise; so, to cram the mind by reading is to weaken it. Learn to reflect upon what you read.

A vast amount of knowledge may be gained by using the leisure moments and then while our hands are employed with the practical affairs of life we can reflect upon what we have read. This gives to the every-day life of kitchen, nursery, parlor, work shop and field dignity and glory and helps to make life more truly worth the living.

"Not on the outer world
For inward joy depend:
Enjoy the luxury of thought
Make thine own self thy friend.

"Good company have they
Who by themselves do walk,
If they have learned on blessed themes

With their own souls to talk.

"Drink waters from the fount
That in thy bosom springs.
Self-knowledge and self-culture mount
To uncomputed gains."

In striving for mental excellence the society of the wise, the intelligent, and the good will have an inspiring and refining influence. The Persians have this beautiful fable to show the value of good company: A philosopher was one day astonished by the fragrance of a piece of clay. On asking how it came to have so sweet a perfume, the clay answered, "I was once a piece of common clay, but I was placed for some time in the company of a rose, and the quality of my company was communicated to me."

The second great ideal of the Chautauqua movement is good fellowship. Cicero says: "It is no less an evil for a man to be without a friend than the heavens to be without a sun." Socrates, when asked why he had built for himself so small a house, replied: "Small as it is, I wish I could fill it with friends." These are, indeed, all a wise man would assemble, for a crowd is not company. The sweetest and most satisfactory connections in life are those formed by congenial minds.

The third great thought of the C.

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

Spread on Some Crackers—Not the Slightest Injury Resulted from Little Fellow's Escapade—In Most Positive Way Ingredients of

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the state-room and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment."

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chaffings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Chancery Lane; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, 8, 10, 12 & Co., Sydney; South Africa, London, Ltd., Cape Town, East London, etc.; Russia, Ferris, Moscow; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokyo; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., New York, N. Y.

L. S. C. work is public benefit. Man should not live for himself alone. Bishop Vincent says: "The true chautauquan cares for ideas, but cares more for life; he has lofty ideals but puts forth daily efforts; he has large hopes for the future, but does all he can to fill the present with service; he emphasizes culture, but glorifies character; has faith in God, but lives to help his fellow-man."

Mr. Hilburn supported the Duke bill by a speech.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctively feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

PEANUTS AND BOLL-WEEVEL.

The Federal Department of Agriculture has issued a bulletin advising farmers in the boll-weevil districts how to rid themselves of the pests and at the same time make their lands quite as profitable, if not more profitable, than before. Plant peanuts, says the bulletin. Expert W. R. Beattie of the department has studied the soil and climate of the sections plagued by the weevil, and gives it as his opinion that they are excellently adapted to peanut culture. Moreover, not only will peanuts in a few years rid the lands of boll-weevil germs, but if the vines are turned under, the lands will be greatly enriched. The vines of this plant are quite as effective as peavines in conveying nitrogen to the soil.

It has been only about thirty years since the peanut became a crop of any importance in this country. Last year the value of it amounted to $2,000,000, with Virginia, the two Carolinas, Tennessee and Georgia producing practically the entire output. Manifestly, the peanut is a friend worth cultivating.

Meanwhile, the possibilities of the peanut are far from the ultimate mark of development. We are all familiar with the "nut" as an adjunct to political conventions and circus performances and baseball games. We know that interest is added to almost any informal public assemblage if we have a small bag of roasted peanuts that we may crack and munch by way of personally punctuating the proceedings. We have, too, an appreciation of "peanut brittle," and salted peanuts, and peanut butter. But these things hardly more than touch upon the outside of the actual wealth in the peanut.

The peanut will grow and flourish on land that is almost too poor to raise anything else. The vine makes an excellent "long feed" for cattle, and an excellent fertilizer when turned under the soil after the crop of "nuts" has been gathered. Hogs turned into a peanut field quickly wax fat and of firm flesh. Peanut meal mixed with cottonseed meal or other dairy feed enriches and increases the flow of milk. Peanut oil is a standard article of commerce. Having in view the foregoing facts, there is not the slightest possibility that the production of peanuts would overstock the market for a great many years. There is no glut of the cottonseed market, because there is a ready demand for all of the cottonseed products that can be raised and manufactured. And so it would be in the case of peanuts. Being a soil-builder and a cattle-fattener, and at the same time a boll-weevil-killer, we look to the peanut to help much in the enriching of the cotton belt.—Savannah News.

ENGLAND'S NEW BUDGET.

The British budget this year provides for the taxing of the unearned increment of the value of land to the extent of one-fifth of that increment. In this the principle of Henry George's land tax doctrine has been adopted in part. Of course the great land owners and nobility of England make loud lamentation over it and doubtless think that the country is going to the dogs.

Yet they have but themselves to blame for the tax. In countries like England where the amount of land is limited and the population dense the large areas of land devoted to great parks and remaining unimproved work great injury and is largely responsible for the destitution of great masses of the people. If this land were put under cultivation employment would be found for many thousands and England would not be so dependent upon other countries for its food supply.

But the land lies idle and the wealthy landowners who see the value of that land increase through no action of their own have paid but little taxes upon it while other people have had to bear the burden. As an instance there is the great park around Cardiff castle. It is situated right in the heart of the city and is worth an immense sum, yet it is rated at only $4,600 a year while a tailor's shop 200 yards away is rated at $4,750. The British government proposes to at least partially remedy such an abuse and though the landowners are cursing the government for it the nation has good reason to rejoice.

If you have found anything see if it is advertised in the Want column.

FRANCE AND HER TROUBLES.

The gravity of political and industrial conditions in France is generally recognized. That the French government has decided to lock horns with syndicalism and force a crisis, indicates that the situation is extremely dangerous and that if it is allowed to continue it might force the government from power and precipitate a revolution. It also implies that the government feels itself strong enough to master the situation if dealt with at once.

It is to be hoped it may. During the thirty-nine years the republic has lasted it has weathered many hard storms, the most dangerous of which were the reactionary attitude of President McMahon, and Boulangerism. In its ability to surmount those crisis the republic revealed a strength and the nation a stability that was a surprise to the world. It is this fact that which leads the world to believe that the present difficulty will be overcome.

That the government has made some serious mistakes in its attitude towards the church and to the cause of religion generally must be admitted and this adds to the perplexity and danger, for it means that in their desire to upset the government the reactionary forces in the rural districts are willing to strike hands with the revolutionary element in the cities. Altogether the next few weeks promise to be full of interest to the French nation.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MR. WILLIAM F. STEESE.
Mr. William F. Steese, 701 Coburn St., Akron, Ohio, writes:

"I have been troubled for several years with catarrh of the stomach. Have used different patent medicines to no effect whatever, and have doctored considerable with family doctor. Sometimes his treatment would relieve me for a few weeks, but would eventually have to go back to him, and that had kept up for several years.

"I was advised to use Peruna, and have taken three bottles. Never felt so good in my life. Am going to continue using it. Wouldn't be without it in the house. I will gladly recommend it to any one afflicted with catarrh of stomach, or stomach trouble of any kind."

The above is an oft-repeated story. Troubled for years with chronic catarrh. Tried different remedies and doctors to no avail. Peruna was advised by friends. Instant relief experienced. Great gratitude to Peruna expressed. This, in brief, is a story that is repeated to us a great many times every year.

No one could be in touch with our vast correspondence for one month without being impressed with the sincerity and truthfulness of these kind of testimonials.

Peruna promptly produces an appetite, corrects digestion and relieves stomach difficulties that have resisted other treatment.

ARNOW "PULLS" THE BICYCLISTS FRIDAY

NUMBER PROMINENT PEOPLE WERE ARRESTED.

Will Have to Appear Before Mayor Davis and Tell Him Their Troubles.

Mayor Davis will have a score or more of offenders of the bicycle ordinance before him at the bar of justice this morning.

Marshal Arnow has repeatedly instructed a number of parties who ride wheels of the stringent law that is now in effect, but it seems that they have either failed to post themselves as to the law or disregarded it.

Friday he made it his business to "take in" a few of them, and as a result he will have a large number before the mayor this morning.

In most cases the parties arrested are prominent citizens, and while it was not this class that the law was after, there are no restrictions that will excuse them unless the mayor is lenient in the matter.

The great trouble has been with the negro delivery boys and others of that class who disregard all laws or anything else, just to "scorch" along on the granolithic walks, and the officers will see hereafter that the practice is stopped by arresting all violators.

There were over a dozen arrests made from this cause alone during Friday.

Friday's Fire.

The fire department was called out Friday at 11:30 by an alarm from Box 37, which was found to be the residence of W. A. McNally. The blaze was extinguished without turning on the water and the damage, which amounts to only a small hole in the kitchen roof, will probably be less than $3.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE OLD FLINTLOCKS.

They Seem to Have Done Some Rather Tolerable Shooting.

"These old shooting irons," said a man from Virginia, who was examining an old flintlock rifle, "always have my profound respect. Our grandfathers and great-grandfathers did their hunting with them and used them in our two victorious wars with England. They were always good weapons and are now, if they are equipped with a good stock and a good lock. They could do fine service. Any man who was any sort of a marksman could do effective work with them in their day. This fact was well illustrated in an incident that happened several years ago near Richmond. The story was printed in some of the leading newspapers in Virginia and was the cause of much interest.

"There was an old farmer residing in one of the peninsular counties who was coming on the cars to Richmond and had with him one of those old fashioned weapons. In the train he got into conversation with a small party of gentlemen, who expressed much interest in his old rifle, and the farmer told of some rather extraordinary feats of marksmanship that he had performed with it.

"Finally he was persuaded to give an exhibition of his skill with the old relic, and a trial came off at Rockets in the presence of a few gentlemen. The old flintlock was fired seven times and only missed the mark once. At first the old man fired it at some small objects—to get his hand steady, so he said. Then the old fellow handed to his son, who had every faith in his father's skill, a large potato and stationed him at fifty yards distance, holding the potato between his thumb and forefinger.

"The rifle cracked, and the potato was split into several pieces. Another shot was made at the bowl of a pipe which the boy was smoking, and the bowl was smashed. Several other shots were made at various objects, but in trying to hit a copper cent that was tossed in the air the marksman made a miss. He was considerably mortified at this and laid the blame on a bystander who sneezed loudly at the critical moment, but made another attempt, which was successful.

"The old man then declined any further trials of his skill and when offered a sum of money to repeat his feat of shooting a potato from his son's hand refused, saying he didn't care to experiment any further unless his weapon was freshly cleaned. The boy was willing, but the old man was obdurate. The young man showed not the least anxiety during the dangerous experiment upon himself."—Washington Post.

To Multiply by Division.

Everybody knows that learning the tens in the multiplication table is as easy as "pie" and that the fives are not much harder; but, slight as is the mental effort required in multiplying any number by five, it may be lessened still more by discarding the multiplier entirely and substituting a divisor instead. This may sound paradoxical, but by experimenting you will find that dividing by two will bring the same result as multiplying by five, provided you add a cipher to the quotient if the dividend be an even number or five if it be odd. For instance, if you multiply 2,734 by five the product is 13,670. What is still easier, divide 2,734 by two, which is done almost instantaneously; then tack on your 0 and you have 13,670.

A Necessity.

"Twenty dollars for retrimming your hat!" exclaimed Mr. Madison. "But we agreed to spend nothing except for things that were positively needed."

"Well, John, this is. You see, my best friend has just had hers retrimmed, and I have promised to go with her to the concert on Friday."

"Oh, all right. But I can't give you more than fifteen this morning, because I broke my meerschaum and must have it mended."

"Can't you smoke your old brierwood?"

"Certainly, dear. And you can wear your old hat."

"John, let's begin to economize next month after we get things all straightened out."

"All right."—New York Herald.

Second Seaman—That's the saloon passengers' menu, of course.

"But what does it mean?"

"Oh, it's a list of all the things they have for dinner—soup and fish and vegetables and meat. That's the difference between the saloon and the forecastle; they get them all separately and call it a menu. In the forecastle we get them altogether and call it Irish stew."—London Answers.

True Tale.

"My daughter gave us an awful scare the other day," said a caller last night. "She went away for a visit in New York. And she sent a telegram from Buffalo, her first stop. My wife was afraid to open it. We had visions of train wrecks, sudden illness and all sorts of things. And what do you think the message said? This: 'I forgot to tell you—don't eat up all the strawberry jam while I'm gone.'"—Cleveland Leader.

TELEPHONE TALKS

The Long Distance System

One of the most valuable features of our service, to our subscribers and to the public generally, is our connection with the extensive long distance lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the other associated Bell Telephone companies.

We own thousands of miles of long distance lines in the seven States in which we operate and in addition can connect any telephone in our system with lines extending to any other city in which a Bell Telephone system is operated.

These long distance lines are of the most modern and improved construction and are maintained at a high state of efficiency. The Bell systems, operating in various sections of the country, are uniform in their equipment and in their methods of operating.

Only by reason of this close traffic arrangement between the Bell Telephone companies is it possible to go to a Bell Telephone almost anywhere, ask for "Long Distance" and be put in communication with almost any point in the country.

This vast network of wires, radiating throughout the nation, is used daily in commerce and for social purposes by the banker, the farmer and citizens in all walks of life and our plant here is an important link in this great chain.

GAINESVILLE, —THE— University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops; in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations; has a climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.
